FINAL EXHIBITION OF THE 1962 SEASON

THE FINAL EXHIBITION of the current season consists of original works selected from the Center's permanent collection. In choosing material for this exhibition every effort was made to present items that are varied in their mediums and in the idiomatic directions employed by the individual artist. The result is a group of paintings, watercolor, prints, drawings and sculpture ranging from the realistic to the abstract thereby affording the public a concept of the fundamental characteristics of the permanent collection as a whole.

The Center's folder entitled "Schedule of Exhibition for 1962" issued in May of this year contained the following statement — "The public's response to the Center's activities since its opening in 1960 is most gratifying; proof that an institution intent on maintaining high standards in its respective field will have little difficulty in finding an audience". In this regard the Center is pleased to report that the number of people attending its exhibitions this year showed an increase of 25% over those of 1960 and 1961.

One of the main reasons for this increase is the fact that the Center has nine individual galleries available for exhibition purposes making it possible to have strongly contrasting types of work on view at the same time. These are composed of loans of paintings, drawings and sculptures from galleries in New York City and selections from the Center's permanent collection which contains a great number of outstanding prints by noted artists.

As a museum lacking a public serves no purpose, the Center plans its exhibitions so that those visiting its galleries will find work that will prove to be a stimulating experience regardless of how extensive their interest in and knowledge of art may be. All who are familiar with the contents of these exhibitions will find that this has been accomplished without any lowering of standards. This is the service to which the Center is dedicated and will continue to offer those who are interested in its activities.
